

Freeway Car Insurance Review for 2020

By Jim Travers June 01, 2020

Based in Huntington Beach, California, Freeway Insurance is an independent agency that offers auto insurance in all 50 states, and works with a number of insurance companies to provide coverage to drivers regardless of their driving record or financial circumstances.

While perhaps not as well known as some competing insurance companies, Freeway has been in business more than 30 years. The company has more than 400 offices in 23 states, and claims to write more than one million new policies each year. A subsidiary of insurance broker Confie Seguros, Inc, since 2008, Freeway describes itself as the largest privately held insurance company in the United States.

Types of Coverage From Freeway Car Insurance

Freeway says it will provide auto insurance coverage to any driver, including those with a less than stellar record. That includes drivers with multiple accidents or DUI, or who are required to have an SR-22 certificate of insurance. The SR-22 document is typically required for drivers deemed a high risk following an alcohol-related offense, uninsured motorist conviction, or other violation.

Freeway also works with drivers with poor credit scores, and others who might have difficulty finding insurance elsewhere. For financially strapped drivers, Freeway offers month to month payment plans with the option of paying in cash at any of their local offices.

By working with a number of different insurance companies, Freeway says it can custom tailor a policy and offer competitive rates to drivers regardless of their record or financial status. Policy documents specify the name of the carrier, along with an agency broker agreement outlining Freeway services.

Freeway policies can be purchased online, over the telephone, or through any of their local offices.

Freeway Car Insurance Discounts

Freeway auto insurance offers similar discounts to those found with other insurance companies, including reduced rates for good drivers, students, members of the military, and drivers or families with more than one vehicle. You can also get reduced rates for bundling an auto insurance policy with other coverage offered by Freeway, such as a homeowners or renters policy.

Other Types of Policies From Freeway Insurance

In addition to auto insurance coverage, Freeway offers policies for commercial vehicles, motorcycles, motor homes, ATVs, snowmobiles, boats, personal watercraft, and roadside assistance plans. Freeway also writes policies for homeowners, renters, and rental property, along with business, health, and life insurance, and identity theft coverage. Freeway offers Mexican travel insurance, which provides medical, auto, and protection to cover expenses if your travel plans are cancelled or altered.

Freeway Financial Fitness

As a privately held company, Freeway Insurance and its parent Confie Seguros do not disclose financial information.

Other Insurance Brands Related to Freeway Insurance

Freeway is a wholly owned subsidiary of Confie Seguros, Inc.
